Asia Major, Third Series (issued semi-annually), is published by the Institute of History and Philology of the Academia Sinica, Taiwan. It is a continuation of Asia Major, New Series, published in England from 1949 to 1975. It covers all periods of Chinese history, literature, ideas, and culture in general. Included are the histories and cultures of other East, South, and Central Asian peoples in their relations with China.

SUBMITTAL REQUIREMENTS

Upper limit is 65 typescript pages, total (using MS Word). Both main text and notes must be double-spaced. All citations must be complete, and all text complete.

Include Chinese (standard form only, no simplified characters) and Japanese directly in the text. With various exceptions, we require the Pinyin system for transliteration. Full publication data are required at the first citation of a work; thereafter short titles may be used. Frequently cited sources may be given acronymic abbreviations; please supply a list. The typescript should be submitted as e-mail attachment with an abstract. Please include a cover letter with your postal address and e-mail address, but make sure that your name does not appear in the text itself.

Send the submittal, abstract, and cover letter to the Editor:
